

TELEGRAPHIC.
Winnipeg, April 13, '99.
An order-in-council has been passed promoting Justice Kilian, of Winnipeg, to the chief justice of Manitoba.

The London Daily Mail says yesterday morning: "We understand Lord Roseberry is about to resume his active political life."

The King and Queen, of Italy, arrived at Cagliari Island, Sardinia, on the 2nd. They were received with enthusiasm and salutes were fired from ships and forts and all the war vessels were brilliantly decorated.

The officers of the French and Italian fleets attended the theatre yesterday evening. "La Marcelline" and Italian national hymns were played amid the frantic cheers of the audience and waving of French and Italian flags.

A fire started in Chasels & Hollister's large furniture factory in Oakshoe, Wis., and immediately spread to the adjoining building and is burning the business section of the city. All the neighboring towns within twenty miles have been asked to send their fire engines there. The loss is $250,000 at present, and destined still continue this summer.

Before orders of the day were called in the house yesterday Sir Charles Tupper arose and congratulated the premier on the announcement that the government proposed to take up the Pacific cable scheme and carry it through to a successful conclusion. Premier Laurier expressed gratitude at Sir Charles' remarks. The debate was resumed and again adjourned.

Despatches from Apia, Samoa, of April 1st, state that a force of 214 British Americans and 150 friendly natives were surprised in ambush at the German plantation at Vaele. The rebel force opened fire on the rear and left flank of the American force. The friends looted, but the marines and blue jackets stood their ground splendidly, the Americans and British then firing shoulder to shoulder. The German automatic gun which was with the landing party, became jammed and could not be worked, leaving the Americans and British practically at the mercy of the rebels. "Retreat" was sounded three times before the marines and blue jackets retreated. Lieut. A. H. Freeman, first lieutenant of the Launaga, who was in command of all the force, was shot through the heart. Lieut. Landale and Ensign Monaghan, of the Philadelphia, were also killed. The manager of the German plantation has been arrested and detained aboard the Launaga. The military authorities received instructions by cable to-day to rush the soldiers and sailors who came by the steamer Cartagena through to Vancouver with as little delay as possible. The authorities refuse to divulge their place of destination, but it is believed they are going to Samoa. News of the fighting at Samoa was received at Washington with feelings of apprehension and dismay. The secretary of the German embassy called early in the day upon Secretary Hay. Neither official would disclose anything as to the nature of the exchange of views that took place. The arrest and detention by a British naval official of a German subject is one of the most dangerous features of the controversy. It is said three consuls of three powers stationed at Apia claim extra territorial jurisdiction and special right to try the subjects of their respective countries for alleged offences committed.

In this practice the German consul Rosa may demand the surrender of the German subject. If the man is guilty it is considered improbable that the British will yield unless an adequate guarantee is given that he is to be sufficiently punished. It is now believed likely that Rosa will make such promise.

COURT closed. All civil cases were held over until next sitting.

Geo. FRASER expects to leave for Chippewyan to-day. Colin Fraser will leave shortly.

J. A. BRUCHMAN, manager of Larus & Picard's store at Lesser Slave lake, came in from the lake last night.

F. B. McMAHON, of Prince Albert, arrived last week to take the position of accountant at the H. B. Co. fort here.

R. RECORD, of McLaughlin & Secord, left for the coast Tuesday morning. He takes a number of samples of Slave lake ore for assay there.

THE annual general meeting of the Edmonton golf club will be held at the land office to-morrow, Friday, at 8 o'clock p. m., for the election of officers and for other purposes.

A. DRISCOLL, D. L. S., returned from Chilliwack, B. C., on Monday to resume his partnership with T. W. Chalmers here.

Mr. Driscoll will take charge of the office during Mr. Chalmers' absence this summer.

KAJAH, Lemna Bros. big elephant, killed one of his trainers, Frank Fisher, a few days ago at Argentine, Kansas. Fisher was intoxicated and tried to make the animal perform when it became enraged and threw its trainer down and knelt on him, crushing his life out.

A SERVANT employed in the household of E. F. Slocock, while returning home on Saturday night, was assaulted near the site of the old English church, by an unknown man who suddenly sprang up. The weapon used was a club and with this he struck her over the head a number of times. The girl screams eventually frightened her assailant away when she succeeded in regaining the house. Her head was severely injured, being cut open in three places. Under medical attendance she is now improving as well as possible. No arrests have yet been made.

H. A. LOTHROP and Manfred R. Holder came in last night from Hay river, 200 miles north of the Peace. Another member of their party, French, remained at the Landing. Wood, Bros., of Pigeon lake, who were hunting and trapping there, were the only other men wintering in their vicinity.

Fur was scarce though the Woods were doing very well. The horses taken out by Messrs. Lothrop and Holder did not seem to be pawing their living, and on their return they were compelled to walk all the way to the Crossing, breaking a road the greater part of the way, and hauling their outfit on a toboggan.

T. W. CHALMERS, D. L. S., expects to start to-morrow to commence his road cutting and grading on the Swan Hills trail. He will bridge a few streams this side of the Athabasca, and then intend crossing that river before the ice goes, and cutting out the trail beyond. After the frost leaves other portions of the trail this side of the Athabasca will be completed.

The party consists of: Dan. McMillen, J. D. Hutton, Finlayson, G. G. Dennis, Banks, Mahood, McLeod, Bigley, John Pearce, G. Deschais, F. W. Keegan, A. F. Thornton, Rayson Savoy, C. M. Ross, E. McIntyre, W. N. Chalmers, L. Heall, Foley, and J. Greenwood.

A VANCOUVER despatch to the Free Press, of the 5th, says: "Arthur Ross, who formerly lived in Winnipeg, arrived to-day from Atlin. He says the Americans camped at Porcupine in a fever of excitement over the discovery of what is believed to be a vast mountain of copper. Mr. Ross has had considerable mining experience and says that never in the experience of anyone in the north has such an astonishing find been made. He says that the ore averaged in value, according to assays that have been made there, 73 per cent. copper and 18 per cent. gold. Mr. Ross says that Porter, the owner of the find, showed him a piece of rock as large as his head and declined an offer of $250 for it. The news of the discovery spread and men came flocking from Atlin and other places. Ross arrived there Sunday noon a week ago, and before 5 o'clock last night after great hardship and nearly starved. The Montana man returns to the Sierran from St. John with such medicines as he could get for his companions. Primrose goes on westward through the mountains returning with a man who came down to Fort St. John for supplies and reported washing out $8 a day for forty days last fall, a river the name of which Mr. Manly has forgotten. A great number of the prospectors at St. John's will go back with him. There is some sickness from scurvy at St. John also. Through lack of feed all the horses wintering on the Sierran, some 30 in number, died. There was no feed there as had been reported.

SESSION NOTES.

OTTAWA, Friday, March 31st.

The debate on the address still drags wearily along. The hope that it would not be continued after Easter has vanished. No doubt the constituencies of Brockville and Winnipeg will be talked to, as elections are shortly to be held there. Besides it seems that the opposition are in fear of a general election, and each member appears to think it his duty to aid in postponing that event as long as possible. Their absolutely colorless speeches savor rather of obstruction than of policy, except that there may be supposed to be some policy in obstruction. It must be said however, that the more recent speeches have been of a higher order than some of the earlier ones. Hon. Mr. Tarte, Bourassa liberal M. P. for Labelle, McInerney, of New Brunswick, and Sir Chas. Hibbert Tupper are the notable ones. Of the speech of the minister of public works it can only be said that it was a masterpiece of debate; dealing on the broadest and most unquestionable grounds with the various points taken against the administration and against himself. There was not a word of abuse of opponents in it, and yet when interrupted his repartee was absolutely and unquestionably effective. Regarding the accusation of large expenditures urged against his department he asked the members of the opposition which of these expenditures they specifically objected to. Was it the deepening of the canals begun by themselves. Was it the improvements of the harbors of Montreal and Toronto, Collingwood, Midland, Owen Sound, and Godrich undertaken to divert the traffic in Western Canadian grain now going out by way of Buffalo and New York to Canadian ports, for which conservatives and liberal business men were petitioning every day? Or was it the aid to the Crow's Nest pass railway regarding which the only interest shown at the time by the leader of the opposition and his henchmen was the fear that it might not be granted? While in one breath they were denouncing the government for making great expenditures, in the next they complained because the government had not spent $750,000 a year on a fast Atlantic steamship line. The fact could not be denied that the process of development of a great, new and growing country such as Canada, required large public expenditures. The minister flatly denied the allegations made by Pope, of Compton, as to the plebiscite in Quebec and demanded proof.

The opposition did not attempt to answer the minister on any of the points with which he dealt.

Mr. Bourassa is one of the very few members of the house who can fairly be spoken of as an orator—and he is one. His speeches are perfect as literary productions and full of wit and life and fire, and close reasoning and sound logic. His appearance and manner are more than pleasing, and he handles English as a master of the language—just enough accent to distinguish, and just enough difficulty to ensure interest. To listen to the speech it was clear and convincing, but the reasoning was too close to stand summing up and still retain its strength. He declared himself squarely for a moderately protective tariff such as he said the country now had; and against consistency in public affairs when consistency would be an injury to the country. Mr. Bourassa's connection with the government party leaders is too close to allow the supposition that his speech was delivered without warrant. While no fault need be found with the logic of his position it makes perfectly clear that ideal free traders or even those who favor tariff for revenue only have not everything their own way in the councils of the liberal party. This was the first declaration in parliament of a well known fact that a wing of the party now, or in the days of MacKenzie, is in favor of moderate protection. Although not a majority within the party as in the government, they are greatly strengthened by the solid protectionist front always shown by the opposition. Clearly there are now protectionist liberals as well as so-called free trade—or really tariff for revenue—liberals, and account must hereafter be taken of the fact. Although Mr. Bourassa did not say so the logic of his position compels the belief that the fight against lower and far higher duties is not only from without, but is also from within the party. Hereafter the name liberal does not necessarily mean free trade or even one who favors tariff for revenue only, but includes those who favor moderate protection. As the acceptance of what is moderate protection depends largely on the point of view, or in other words on the interest of the parties concerned, it can only be expected that liberal representatives of manufacturing constituencies will always be an active force within the party to secure its acceptance as moderate protection of a higher scale of duties than will always be considered moderate by those who represent purely producing constituencies. Allowance will have to be made for such differences of opinion within the liberal party; or the country will revert to the policy of high protection to which the conservative party still stands absolutely and unequivocally pledged.

McInerney, conservative, is also an orator, and spoke at some length to good advantage, but did not bring out any new matter.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, who is a pleasing, but too lengthy speaker, devoted his speech chiefly to a discussion of alleged maladministration in the Yukon. He read a large number of specific and very damaging charges against a number of the officials and the administration generally. To one series of complaints a number of names of Yukon mining men were attached. An important letter from C. M. Woodworth was read, but in the large majority of cases the names of the speaker's informants were not given, for the reason as he alleged that they having business interests in the Yukon were too much at the mercy of the officials to dare to let it be known that they had made charges. Generally speaking the charges were a repetition in detail of the reports that have been current for some time as to affairs in the Yukon, and all applied to the term of Major Walsh's administration, upon whom the most serious attack was made. The point of Sir Hibbert's argument was not the charges themselves, but the stand taken by the government regarding them. He compared at great length and with the utmost particularity the prompt action of the Dominion government in '96 in expending $19,000 to bring to justice the perpetrators of the general election frauds of that year in Manitoba, although they had no specific information upon which to base action at first, with their refusal to take such action in the case of the alleged irregularities in the Yukon unless specific charges were placed before them; which for the reasons he had given was practically impossible.

Although always a deliberate and wordy speaker it was noticed that Sir Hibbert was particularly so on Thursday night. He had commenced at three o'clock, dealt with other subjects for nearly three hours, and only commenced on the Yukon section of his address just before six. He resumed at eight, and the hands of the clock were nearly pointing to midnight when he had evidently reached a conclusion. Good Friday, a statutory holiday, commenced at midnight and the house could not be legally in session after that hour. But at five minutes to twelve, he took a new start, read some more evidence, and talked until the hands of the clock crept slowly past the 12, to the one, and the 2, and still Mr. Speaker made no sign that the British constitution was being shattered. Just here came in a peculiar fiction of that peculiar institution. The clock does not govern the speaker; the speaker governs the clock. This is, it became twelve o'clock when the speaker said so and not before. It soon became apparent that it was Sir Hibbert's intention to talk until the speaker said it was twelve, and it also became evident that it was not the speakers—or to be more exact the deputy speakers, intention to say so until Sir Hibbert had ceased. Such a contest could have only one result and at twelve minutes after twelve Sir Hibbert concluded a six and a half hour speech with acknowledgments for the good hearing which had been accorded him. And only then became apparent the real cause of the long drawing out of his harangue.

The minister of interior rose to move the adjournment of the debate, and in doing so pointed out the evident interest of the previous speaker to prevent his (the minister's) reply to the specific and acrimonious attack that had been made upon himself and his department until after the Easter recess, so that the accusation could become well grounded in the popular mind before the refutation could follow; and also to postpone the reply to a time when the accuser would not be in the house to hear and acknowledge the refutation. (Sir Hibbert acknowledged that he was going away and would not be back on Tuesday next when Hon. Mr. Sifton's reply would be delivered). However, in order that no time might be lost in denying the accusations he read from a telegraphic report from Vancouver appearing in the morning papers to the effect that Mr. Ogilvie only two charges had been made against the late gold commissioner Fawcett, and they had been withdrawn because the commissioner would only deal with cases arising before August '98. It was asserted that this narrowed the hearing too much. The minister pointed out that all Sir Hibbert's charges referred to dates previous to August '97. These were the charges Mr. Ogilvie was empowered to try, and not one of these charges had been brought forward for trial. The report also stated that the investigation was proceeded with, that Mr. Fawcett had been cleared and that one of the witnesses had stated that he was acting as a detective in the employ of a conservative organization in Ottawa.

House meets again on Tuesday. Most of the members have gone home. Snow two feet deep and skating and curling in full blast. Little or no sign of spring.

A WORD ABOUT REPAIRS..

There is no article that is so closely associated with us as a Watch. It regulates all our business and is either of the greatest value or of no value whatever. A watch must either be repaired properly or ruined, and hundreds of fine Watches have been utterly ruined by being practised upon by unskilled workmen and apprentices. Having been at the Jewellery and Watch Repairing bench for the past 19 years in the most reliable shops in some of the largest cities of EUROPE, UNITED STATES and CANADA, from which I have received diplomas and excellent references for my skilled mechanical work, which proves that I am a sufficiently master of my trade, I make this class of work a distinct feature and give it my most scrupulous attention. All work entrusted to my care will be repaired expeditiously and in a superior manner, accompanied with a guarantee for twelve months. I shall do my utmost to gain the confidence of all who favor me with their patronage. One trial will prove.

Hoping to have a call from you, I remain,

Yours respectfully,

CRANBROOK, S. S. K., R. C.

A Blessing from God and Holy Tongue.

The greatest scientific discovery of a century has just been made in tropical Polynesia, on the island of Tonga, or Holy Tongue, in the South Seas.
From investigation and experiments conducted by the medical authorities among the tropical forests, a preparation, known to the natives for years, and found possessing a marvelous influence on the human system in health and disease. It is known as the natives of the Friendly Islands as Manana.
It is a delightful, safe, and marvelous cell irritant that quickly fills the blood and system with giant cells; cells must be irritated or life wanes. It creates prodigious capillary circulation, nutrition, energy, power, and vital force; in a few days it restores and recuperates the very low, weak and worn, given up to the patients, and in a few hours it will remove the dry, black coating from the tongue of half unconscious cases, putting them on their feet in a few days. Invalids who have been bed-ridden for years gain five pounds a week, and at three months in one. Many constitutions wasted to a skeleton, with yellow skin, hectic, and night sweats, have been cured in from one to three months. Manana has cured hundreds of five such cases when all the best directed efforts of science has failed. It has been found more active and powerful in recuperating cases of very low vitality than all known means. In six weeks it will cure half the cases of any lung disease, consumption, phthisis, frigid ulcers, and all diseases the result of impure blood or sluggish circulation, with indigestible food, indigestion, and the worst cough in a few days. Cures enlarged tonsils, adenoids, asthma, catarrhs, and laryngitis in one or two days. For the weak, puny children it acts like magic, transforming them into veritable models. Imparts courage, confidence, strengthens the system, improves the face, clears the skin, exhilarates the mind and body, produces strong, physiological action, gives prodigious strength to the heart, slows the rapid pulse, and increases the working powers of the lungs. It acts simultaneously on the stomach, liver, heart, lungs, and through the veins and arteries to every part of the human economy, imparting strength, vigor and a pleasant sensation of satisfaction to the mind and body.
All parts and organs of the body partake of this wonderful rejuvenating process. It works wonders in stimulating and toning, producing sound refreshing sleep at night.

The above is not exaggerated or overdone, it has been thoroughly tested among natives and Europeans (whites) by the government medical officers during the past three years. This is entirely new remedy, it has not been known to physicians.
A sample package will be sent to any part of the world, carriage prepaid, on receipt of five shillings ($1.25). Amount sufficient for the uses invarically case for one month ($25). In writing, describe the case, as well as a description of the individual requiring it. Send money by registered letter, Cash, or by bank draft on London, Australia or New Zealand bank. Address—

DR. MACLENNAN,
Chief of the medical department for the government of Tonga.

STATUTE LABOR.

It would be well to call attention to the fact that the local improvement (late statute labor) ordinance makes it compulsory that all ratepayers who wish to commute their assessment by labor must give notice at once to their overseer, otherwise they forfeit their right to do so. The new ordinance also provides that all persons who elect to commute must, on five days' notice being given them to commence work, do so at the time and place specified by the overseer, failing which they forfeit their right to commute, the amount of their assessment, together with a fine of $2.50 being at once due and liable to be collected by distress, besides being liable on summary conviction to a fine of $50.00.

All taxes for which no commutation notice has been given, not paid within two months from March let, are liable to be distrained for.

LESSER SLAVE LAKE

Special Correspondence.

Within the week 36 teams have arrived in from Edmonton, in consequence of which we are in possession of papers dated January and February, an unusual luxury. We, at least those of us who can read, were deeply interested in the treaty made between Spain and the United States. Considerable interest was also exhibited in the McCoy and Corbett fight and a number of jaw-bone beta amicably settled.

Inspector Rutledge arrived in from the Crossing on the 18th, looking well after his long trip. He has been quite busy settling minor cases. Considerable local interest was aroused in one, a horse trade. The old story, an unsophisticated Klondiker and a bad, bold horse trader. The Klondiker tried to prove that the horse trader recommended his plug as "one of the best that ever came over the pike," but the judge thought otherwise and the trade stood.

A snow storm arrived the day after the inspector, and both are with us yet.
Kan-No-Kan, our weather prophet, reports a clearing in the weather soon.
Kan-No-Kan's prophecies are not always reliable, though he makes heroic efforts to so word them as to be on both sides of the fence.

A few days more and Easter will be with us, but no eggs. The only chickens in the country are at the Mission, and they have been on strike since last September.

March 29th, '99.

ANGUS RIDGE

La grippe has been reaping a harvest here lately. We are losing our snow and hope to see the sower in the field in another week. The trustees will meet as a court of revision at Battle river school house on April 22nd at 3 p.m.

Wm. Wilson is assessor again this year. A copy of the assessment register for local improvement district No. 204 can be seen at the Battle river school house. Mr.
Wm. Abbott is the overseer for this district. Steps should be taken at once by the settlers in this district to prevent prairie fires destroying valuable timber. The appointment of fire guardians can hardly be called a success.

THE MARCH OF IMMIGRATION.

About two hundred immigrants from the United States and England passed through Ottawa on the 6th, for Manitoba and the Northwest. Rev. Father Morin brought ninety-seven Americans from the Eastern States and C. O.
Swanson conducted a party of twenty-two Swedes. Both parties will locate in Alberta. Forty New Brunswickers were on the train and they will locate in Manitoba. Five hundred Galicians who sailed from Hamburg on April 1 are expected to pass through Ottawa in a few days.

Two hundred and sixty American settlers and sixteen cars of stock and effects passed Portal on the 6th, all from the Western States. About 130 go to Northern Alberta and 30 to other points. Fifteen cars of stock and effects go to Rosthern.

TETE JAUNE CACHE GOLD.

The Golden Era of the 7th contains correspondence from Beaver (on the main line where the Columbia comes in from the north, about 50 miles west of Golden) which reports a party of five leaving there for Tete Jaune Cache.
They take a grub stake for three months, each man hauling his share on a toboggan, and travel via the Columbia river.

Another party of two were leaving Beaver with a dog train of four dogs and four months grub and mining outfit.

Archdeacon McKay's party were last heard from at Surprise rapids on the Columbia on their way in.

The Era reproduces an article by John M. Smith, the first exploiter of Tete Jaune Cache mica, in which he says:

"Swift current takes its source out of that portion of the Rocky mountains which is cut through by the south branch of the Fraser river and lies east of the Yellowhead pass. It heads in from the south, flows north and enters the Fraser river at or near the point where the north and south branches meet, some 15 miles east of Tete Jaune Cache. To reach that locality there are three points from which entrance could be gained, viz: From Edmonton through the Yellowhead pass, a distance of about 480 miles; from Donald or Revelstoke, B. C., via Columbia and Canoe rivers, to the crossing of the Canoe river, a common point to any route south or west, the distances being 187 and 198 miles respectively; from Kamloops to the same point is 290 miles and from Canoe river crossing to Tete Jaune Cache, 18 miles."

In stating the distance from Edmonton to Tete Jaune Cache at 480 miles, Mr. Smith is in error. J. McEvoy, of the government geological department, who went through that district last year via Edmonton with a government exploration party, stated the distance to be 500 miles, and to quote Mr.
McEvoy's own words: "From Edmonton to the Cache is 20 days travelling, with good roads."
